Facts about Members' expenditure reporting at the House of Commons

- Members review and validate their portion of the Members' Expenditures Report in the Financial Portal prior to its publication.
- Members' expenditures must be incurred in the discharge of their parliamentary functions. These expenditures are approved by Members and their delegates in accordance with Board policy.
- Members' expenditures are submitted electronically via a system with built-in controls that are aligned with Board policy, after which they are subject to review by the House Administration.

However, Members are ultimately responsible for ensuring that all approved expenses are incurred in the discharge of their parliamentary functions.

- Members' expenditures are subject to the Members By-law and the Members' Allowances and Services Manual. The Members' Expenditures Report presents expenditures by budget and expense category (eight main categories). Some categories (i.e. Travel, Printing and Offices) are subdivided to provide further information.
- The House Administration produces and publishes over 4,000 reports annually since three reports are produced every quarter for each Member: the Members' Expenditures Report, the Detailed Travel Points Report and the Detailed Hospitality Expenditures Report.
