Responses

1. Economic Recovery and Growth

Given the current climate of federal and global fiscal restraint, what specific federal measures do you feel are needed for a sustained economic recovery and enhanced economic growth in Canada?

A focus on creating and maintaining quality jobs for Canadians with fair wages, equitable employee treatment, benefits, as well as more opportunities for full-time, permanent, positions.

2. Job Creation

As Canadian companies face pressures resulting from such factors as uncertainty about the U.S. economic recovery, a sovereign debt crisis in Europe, and competition from a number of developed and developing countries, what specific federal actions do you believe should be taken to promote job creation in Canada, including that which occurs as a result of enhanced internal and international trade?

3. Demographic Change

What specific federal measures do you think should be implemented to help the country address the consequences of, and challenges associated with, the aging of the Canadian population and of skills shortages?

Perhaps a campaign encouraging the development of skills in young people with respect to nursing and elderly patient care - this could have a positive impact on job creation, encouraging (and perhaps de-stigmatizing) geriatric care (by showing it to be a professional and worthwhile field to pursue for young people), and also ensuring more quality care for Canada's aging population. Universities and colleges could certainly play an important role in this.

4. Productivity

With labour market challenges arising in part as a result of the aging of Canada's population and an ongoing focus on the actions needed for competitiveness, what specific federal initiatives are needed in order to increase productivity in Canada?

5. Other Challenges

With some Canadian individuals, businesses and communities facing particular challenges at this time, in your view, who is facing the most challenges, what are the challenges that are being faced and what specific federal actions are needed to address these challenges?
